

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction: 1919, East Asia, and the Dawning of a New Era Evan Dawley and Tosh Minohara	1
PART I: ERA OF SOVEREIGNTY AND NATIONALISM IN EAST ASIA	21
1 Building China Abroad: May Fourth, Overseas Chinese, and the Construction of the Chinese Nation-State Evan Dawley	23
2 From Trust to Mistrust: Sino-Japanese Relations after the Versailles Settlement Tze-ki Hon	43
3 The Rise of a New Generation: May Fourth Intellectual Factionalism and the Attacks on Kang Youwei Peng Chunling	61
4 The Buryat-Mongol National Movement and Japanese Interests in Siberia, 1917–1919 Tatiana Linkhoeva	81
5 1919: The Historical Origin of the New Cold War on the Korean Peninsula Junghoon Lee	103

PART II: WAR, PEACE, AND DIPLOMACY IN THE ASIA-PACIFIC ERA	123
6 The Elusive Equality: Versailles as a Turning Point in U.S.-Japan Race Relations Tosh Minohara	125
7 Making Peace from the Great War: A Generational Shift in Japanese Diplomacy in 1919 Tadashi Nakatani	159
8 A Lost Chance for Peace: The China Crisis of 1919 and the Debate on Japanese-Chinese Friendship in Japan Torsten Weber	185
9 Naval Powers in the Pacific at the Crossroads Noriko Kawamura	207
10 Future War and Future Peace after 1919: Ishiwara Kanji and the Imperial Japanese Army in the Wake of World War I G. Clinton Godart	227
11 Tragic War, Lasting Peace: Japan and the Construction of Global Peace, 1919–1930 Frederick R. Dickinson	247
Index	271
About the Editors	287
About the Contributors	289