

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Editor's Introduction	1
Mahadevi Varma (1907–1987): Between Tradition and Feminist Emancipation	1
Biographical Sketch	1
Reading Mahadevi	3
Subjective and Experimental Places and Spaces	5
Poetry and Prose	10
Between Tradition and Feminist Emancipation	14
Sacrifice as a National Ideal: Gandhi's Calling and Mahadevi's Response	16
Mahadevi Varma: Poems	27
Who are you in my heart?	27
I, too, am a riddle	28
O, starry night	29
That mirror broke	29
I am someone's mute shadow	30
The World	31
Desire	32
Pride did not disappear	33
Friend, how can I make him mine?	33
I am your vina, I am also your melody	34
My Childhood Days
Translated by Anita Anantharam	37

The Home and the World*Translated by Sujata Mody*

43

Part I

43

Part II

50

Part III

58

The Curse of Womanhood*Translated by Sujata Mody*

63

The Links in Our Chain*Translated by Shobna Nijhawan*

71

Part I

71

Part II

79

Introduction to Adhunik Kavi "From my point of view"Translated by Francesca Orsini

89

The Question of Women's Economic Independence*Translated by Vasudha Paramasivan*

117

Part I

117

Part II

121

The Condition of Hindu Wives*Translated by Vasudha Paramasivan*

129

Indian Culture and the Indian Woman*Translated by Tyler Williams*

139

War and Woman*Translated by Dhananjay Kapse*

151

Women's Position in the New Decade*Translated by Dhananjay Kapse*

157

Our Country and Our National Language Translated by Vasudha Dalmia	183
Bibliography	193
Notes on Contributors	199
Index	201