

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of contributors	viii
Acknowledgement	xi
Introduction	1
ANDREA ACRI
1 More pre-Tantric sources of Tantrism: Skulls and skull-cups	12
RONALD M. DAVIDSON
2 Charnel ground items, śmāśānikas, and the question of the magical substratum of the early Tantras	40
ALEKSANDRA WENTA AND ANDREA ACRI
3 Shamans and Bhūta Tāntrikas: A shared genealogy?	60
MICHAEL SLOUBER
4 Female Gaṇeśa or independent deity?: Tracing the background of the elephant-faced goddess in mediaeval Śaiva Tantric traditions	78
CHIARA POLICARDI
5 Crossing the boundaries of sex, blood, and magic in the Tantric cult of Kāmākhya	98
PAOLO E. ROSATI
6 ‘Let us now invoke the three celestial lights of Fire, Sun and Moon into ourselves’: Magic or everyday practice? Revising existentiality for an emic understanding of Śrīvidyā	116
MONIKA HIRMER

7	Narrative folklore of Khyāḥ from Tantra to popular beliefs: Supernatural experiences at the margins among Newar communities in the Kathmandu Valley	137
	FABIO ARMAND
8	Magical Tantra in Bengal, Bali, and Java: From piśāca tāntrikas to balians and dukuns	154
	JUNE McDANIEL
9	Tantrism and the weretiger lore of Burma, Thailand, and Cambodia	173
	FRANCESCO BRIGHENTI
	Bibliography	191
	Index	212